

Charlie Bird Development Fund (CBDF) Recharge Grant

We are so thankful to Charlie and Claire who have dedicated all their time and energy to making their “Climb with Charlie” so successful. It is their wish that monies raised for IMNDA go towards a project that makes a difference to the lives of those who live with this disease.

The IMNDA’s Mission is to support people living with motor neurone disease (MND), their families and carers through advocacy, home and professional support. We keep clients at the heart of everything we do that we understand the impact of our work. After our survey with clients, family and carers, on their needs, we have established a Recharge grant.

“I so happy that part of the funds from Climb with Charlie are used for this purpose. Motor Neurone is a dreadful disease for people living with and indeed for their carers as well. So, anything that can give people a short break is a lovely idea. I always wanted the funds raised from Climb with Charlie to directly benefit those who are suffering from this terminal illness and also those who are caring for them. So well done, I love this initiative and please please I would encourage you to go for this lovely short break. I know what people with MND are going through and those who are caring for us, I believe even a short break would be welcomed,” said Charlie Bird.

Recharge Grant How to Apply

As a result of the GBDF we will provide a grant of max €600 per family, per year to have a hotel break in Ireland. The hotels we have collaborated with are:
